New Street Cleaning Commissioner Wel-comes the First Beal Chance to Show Whit He Can Do-Shovel Brigade Will Be on Broadway Early This Morning. The Gulf-born cyclone that swished across Georgia on Friday and then started in the regulation | way, along the coast, following the Gulf Stream, created a fine old-fashioned snowstorm in this neighborhood yesterday. Incidentally it wove a white blanket, almost of continental proportions, spreading from the Tennessee/Valley over eastern Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, a part of Virginia, Delaware and all of the New England States and far out to sea. It was the first real snowstorm

of the winter. It began just before I o'clock in the morning and, with an intermission of a few hours. kept up, gustily, until the official weather prophet put on his goloshes and started for his home in Brooklyn. That was 10:30 P. M., and he said there were 9% inches of snow on the level, which melted down, would make an inch of rain.

The wind got up almost to gale force at times, and it blew in squalls so flerce while the prophet was on his way home that he couldn't -nor could anybody else-tell whether the snow, whirling stingingly and picturesquely down and up and around, was coming from the clouds or the buildings and elevated structures. At S P. M., when the prophet made his last official observation, the barometer recorded 29.72. The storm was then central off Atlantic City. The wind was from northeast, blowing twenty-seven miles. At 10:30 o'clock it had

The temperature, which was 55 degrees at 8 o'clock, leit to 20 at midnight. The official prediction is that it will be clear and collide. By clear 12, and the control of street Cleaning, declared yesterday afternoon that the snowstorm was the best thing he had seen in a long time. Mr. Nacle said that what he wanted was a fail of snow that would blockade every street in town, and that would give him an opportunity to show that fell on Friday night with delight, grew despondent when the storm showed signs of abatement, and shift a street cleaner he is. It is a fact that Mr. Nacle halled the first flakes of snow that fell on Friday night with delight, grew despondent when the storm showed signs of abatement, and shift and the transport of shift in the store of the streets, and it will give an opportunity to us to show that the department is ready to pitch in just as soon as the proper time comes and will get this snow out of the waying of the streets, and it will give an opportunity to show that the department is ready to pitch in just as soon as the proper time comes and will get this snow out of the waying of the streets, and it will give an opportunity of the streets, and it will give an opportunity to story the storm shoulding now, already to go to work. At the snow office, 22 Chambers street, it was said last night that the snow contractors would begin the work of snow removal at 4 o'clock this morning at Broadway and Fifty-ninth street. HOW BROOKLYN FARED.

Trolley Delays and Suspensions-Third Rail Pyrotechnics Scare Folks.

The storm prevented the trolley lines of Brooklyn from running on the accustomed trying to come to terms with the Willoughby street headway. There were frequent delays owing | machine, he issued this manifesto yesterday: to the stalling of wagons and other vehicles on the tracks. It was only by the constant operation of the big electric ploughs, in clearing snow drifts from the tracks, that suburban traffic was maintained. A continuance of the storm during the night, it was thought, would temporarily cut off traffic to Fort Hamilton, Canarsie and some of the other suburban districts. There was a great increase in the traffic on the elevated roads, and the Bridge trains were packed to their capacity during the rush hours. Owing to the slippery condition of the tracks. the trains were run with less speed than usual. On all the lines on which the third rail system has been established the passage of its motor cars was attended with almost a constant electrical flashing and spurting, the pyrotechnic display being sometimes so brilliant as to obscure the heaflight on the train. Some of the displays startled the passengers, the trains appearing to be moving over a mass of vivid flames, some persons standing on the platforms at the stations were so frightened at the approaching trains that they rushed back into the waiting rooms and down to the street to take the trolley cars.

At 90 celock last night, owning to big drifts on the West Meadows, the trolley traffic between Ulmer Park and Coney Island was suspended. Later the cars on the Thirty-ninth street route to Canarsie were stopped.

Deputy Commissioner of Street Cleaning P. H. Quinn said last night that he had made ample preparations to begin the work of cleaning of the snow to-day from the leading thoroughfares. Contractor John F. Maiflie will tackle the job for the first time with big platform trolley cars and he expects to be able to have a car loaded in a minute. Commissioner Quinn has a fund of $30,000 for immediate use for the work. trical flashing and spurting, the pyrotechnic

Many were stalled and passengers living back in the country were compelled to leave the cars and walk long distances to their homes through the drifting snow, Many of the electric light wires on the island were blown down, and for two hours, between it and 8 o'clock, nearly all the street lights on the north and south shores were out. The breaks were repaired at 9 o'clock, and the lights were turned on.

It is generally understood that the Democratic managers are now fully convinced that the prosecution of Senator Coffee for disloyalty to the organization was a political mistake and that it may result in extending the disaffection to every Assembly district in the county and lead to sweeping disaster in the next campaign. The Bryan element, which for the most part is in sympathy with Senator Coffee, is becoming more aggressive as the Presidential campaign approaches and threatens to cut loose entirely from the regular machine and make nominations of its own.

On Friday night the Young Men's Democratic Club of the Eleventh Assembly District adopted resolutions denouncing Congressman Edward H. Driggs for voting for the Gold Standard bill, culogizing Congressman Mitchell May for opposing it, and "advocating and endorsing that fearless champion in the cause of numanity, William Jennings Bryan, as our nominee for President of these United States."

HAFFEN TO BE LEADER.

The Opposition Falls in Line After a Conference With John F. Carroll.

The Tammany factions in the Thirty-fifth Assembly district which have been threatening to fight each other at the polls at the March primaries have been pacified and there will be no contest in the district. Yesterday, a committee headed by Joseph P.

Yesterday, a committee headed by Joseph P. Hennessey, representing friends of President Haffen of the borough of The Broax, and a committee composed of followers of State Senator R H. Mitchell, who was the late Street Cleaning Commissioner McCartney's choice for his successor in the district leadership, called on the Hou. John F. (arroll at the Fourteenth street wigwam and had a long talk about the situation in the district. Mr. Carroll advised that the leadership dispute he settled without a contest if it was possible. The situation was explained to him by Mr. Hennessey, Municipal Justice J. M. Tierney and Senator Mitchell, and after it had been talked over thoroughly the followers of Senator Mitchell decided to acquiesce in the election of President Haffen as leader.

The Haffen people had arranged to hold a big meeting in Morrisania Hall, Third avenue and 170th street on Monday evening at which they intended to drum up votes in opposition to Senator Mitchell. As the contest has been settled, this meeting will be turned into a Tammany love feast.

DEMOCRATS STOP SULKING.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATORS DECIDE TO GO BACK TO FRANKFORT.

If They Swallow Their Pride They May Legislate Taylor Out of Office Legally -Doubt as to the Votes - The Goebel Law May Be Made Still More Partisan. FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 17.-The Democrats of the Kentucky Legislature succeeded to-day in breaking away from Louisville. THE SUN this o'clock this afternoon and two hours later morning told of the predicament they were in

snow was coming down hard. The while claiming to be the whole thing, in the legislative line, they were unable to get or count a quorum, and if any less than a quorum voted to adjourn to meet at Frankfort it would be a give-away and exposure of the pretensions they have been making. The early morning trains from Louisville to-day brought emissaries of the Democrats to plead with some of the legislators here to go to Louisville with them and help the body let go. After having fun with these emissaries for a while enough of the men who have been in Frankfort said they would go and they went. When they arrived Senator Allen of Fayette immediately offered the following resolution:

"Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That on and after Monday, Feb. 19, 1900, the place of sitting o the General Assembly shall be at the seat of government in the city of Frankfort, Ky., instead of the city of Louisville, and, beginning on the aforesaid date, each of the two houses shall meet at their regular places of sitting in Frankfort, respectively. If either house shall be prevented from meeting at its regular place of sitting, or if it shall appear to be dangerous for either house to do so, then it shall meet at such room in city of Frankfort as shall be designated by the presiding officer of such Senator Triplett objected to the latter part of the resolution. He said that he did not want to go to Frankfort and meet around from place to place. In case those assuming authority prevented the Senate from meeting at the Capito! by the use of troops, he said he was in favor of going into the executive building by force if necessary. The fellows who had come along to help make a quorum grieved at this flerceness. The resolution was finally adopted in both the House and the Senate.

So it is a sure thing that all the Kentucky legislators will meet here in the State House on Monday. The interesting question now is what action they will take, if any, on the gubernatorial question. Opinion here is divided as to what they will do. If they decide to swallow their pride, admit that they have For more than an hour afterward no locomotives could be removed from the round-house to take out trains. A large number of commuters waited impatiently in the station until the track was cleared, and when the trains did start out they were crowded. No serious delays were caused by the storm. Several of the trains came in from five to twenty minutes late, but no blockades were reported up to late last night. tested elections for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor shall be determined by both Houses of the General Assembly. The Democrats say they have the votes and the Republicans say they have not. You can never tell where a Kentucky Legislator stands until he does vote unless he is an outspoken partisan, and so predictions are worthless, for there are some Senators who are not outspoken partisans. If the Democrats decide to standon the record as they have made it, then Gov. Taylor will continue to be Governor until the courts decide that he is not.

And Issues a Statement to Say So—Enemies Sorry They Tackled Him.

Senator Michael J. Coffey emphatically denies that he has either sought peace or has any desire to make peace with the Democratic managers in Brooklyn. So as to nail the rumors that he is trying to come to terms with the Willeughby street machine, he issued this manifesto yesterday:

"Our standard is suill flying; there can be no surrender in honor to the people of the Ninth Assembly dis rict. We shall insist on the right of our district and every district controlling its own affairs. That is Democratic doctrine and in accord with the principle of home rule, which is a Democratic ener."

Democratic National Committeeman Urey Woodson's declaration in his Oversboro Messenger:

"The white, property-owning, respectable people of Kentucky are going to control the government of this Commonwealth now and hereafter, and they are going to legislate some respect for law and decency into the heads of 2.500 arrogant money bags and their satellites and hangerson who have chosen to affiliate politically with 75.000 ignorant negroes and as many more vicious and red-handed mountaineers. The struggle for supremacy is about over, and thend will prove in this State, as it has in other States, that only the people who are capable of good government will be permitted to govern."

THE SUN reporter is informed by both Democrate and Republicans that in spite of the fact that United States Senator Black burn, J. C. W. Beckham and other leading Democrate agreed that the law is vicious and bad, and that if Gov. Taylor would give up his office they would amend it or repeal it so that a fair election might be held, there is absolutely no hope now that the law will be changed in any way before the next election unless it is to make it stronger. To-day it is said James Andrew Scott, the leading lawyer on the Democratic side, is writing a detence of the law in which he will endeavor to show that most of the Democratic in the State are in favor of the law.

An instance of the extent to which Kentucky Judges will go in the line of partisanship is reported to-day from Paducah. Town Marshel R. B. Lytton of Brooklyn, Ill., went there this morning with a requisition signed by W. S. Taylor for Osborne Drake, colored, wanted in Illinois for malicious assault.

The requisition was presented to Circuit Judge L. D. Husband, who refused to honor it, saying that he did not recognize Taylor as Governor. The negro was sent back to jail for sixty days as required by law.

Louisyiller. Feb. 17.—There is a very sixty days as required by law.

Louisville, Feb. 17.—There is a very straight hint to the effect that when the Legis-lature meets at Frankfort on Monday it will adjourn sine die. It is said by the Democrats that this will be done in order to avoid a conflict if the Republicans insist on Lieut.-Gov. Marshall presiding. The Democrats have selected Senator L. H. Carter for that office.

As a matter of fact, with no leader worthy the name, the Democrats are wandering. "Governor" Beckham is Governor by appellation only, and is not even attempting to assume the directorship of the party counsels. It is an open secret that Blackburn's efforts to have the contest stopped are bearing great fruit. The idea of his being unseated is by no means acceptable to the majority. Republican prospects for success are certainly more flattering than they have been for some time. tering than they have been for some time.

The Weather.

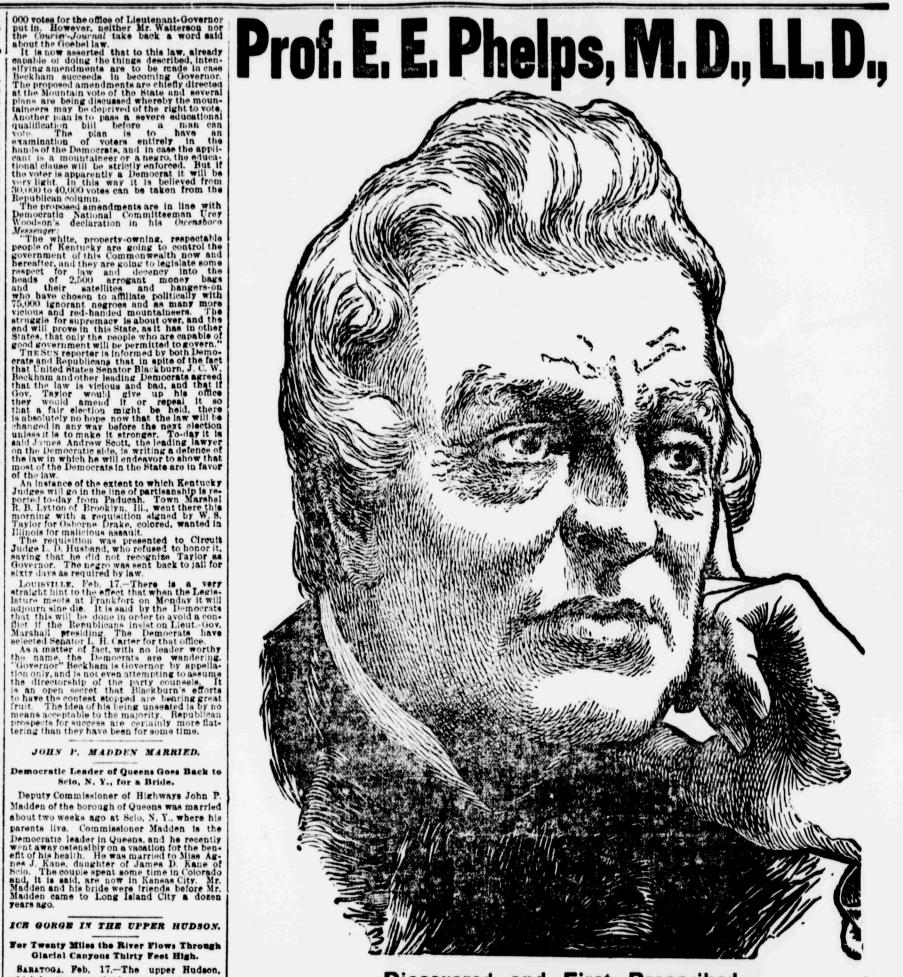

The storm from the south came up the coast yesterday shedding rain to Virginia and snow north of that. The winds were northwest south of Hatteras and northeast on this side. The storm extended 500 miles inland from the coast and still further out to sea, and from Florida to Maine. There was snow from Tennessee to New England. In this city the fall was 616 inches up to 10 o'clock when the fall began to lighten. A severe cold wave which follows the storm sent the temperature below freezing in every South ern State except Florida. St. Louis and Cairo had zero, Louisville 2 degrees above, Memphis and Little Rock 6 degrees, Galveston 24 degrees and Corpus Christi 30 degrees. The zero temperatures reached south over Kansas and east over Ohio in the morning. Lander, Wyo., had 30 degrees below zero. Here something like 10 degrees is the temperature expected to-night, with a northwest wind and clearing skies.

Discovered and First Prescribed

Prof. Phelps was born in Connecticut and graduated in medicine at Yale. His unusual talent soon brought him reputation and prominence among his professional brethren. First he was elected to the professorship of anatomy and surgery in the Vermont University. Next he was appointed lecturer on materia medica and medical botany in Dartmouth College. The next year he was chosen professor of the chair then vacated by Prof. Robby, and occupied the chair, the most important one the country, at the time when he first formulated his most remarkable prescription.

Prof. Phelps has given to his profession in Paine's Celery Compound a positive cure for sleeplessness, wasting strength, dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, all nervous diseases and kidney troubles. It is the only specific recognized and prescribed to-day by the best physicians for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system. For such complaints Paine's Celery Compound succeeds again and again where everything else fails. No remedy was ever so highly recommended. Read our testimonials, because no other remedy ever accomplished so much.

Paine's Celery Compound sustains vitality, keeps the body healthy and free from nervous exhaustion and pain.

GRAND FUTURE FOR THE SOUTH.

Abner McKinley Says It's a Wonderful Country, Full of Great Opportunities. ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 17,-Abner McKinley, prother of President McKinley, is greatly the South. Speaking of what he had observed on his trip from Portsmouth here, he said: who ventures to predict the vast future which is in store for it. You have a delightful climate. soil susceptible of the highest cultivation and which will produce a great variety of crops. You have rich forests of timber and great tracts The South is turning rapidly to the manufacturing of cotton products, and it is meeting with remarkable success in the way of profits, but you have only made a beginning. Much of the soil which I observed reminded me of the lands of New Jersey, where the farmers raise a great varity of all crops. All through Grorgia and South and North Carolina there is the finest kind of country for market gardening, and for one month of the year, at least, you could send every day an express train loaded with vegetables and small truits to the Northern markets, where they would command protitable prices. The West is at present the granary and the slaughterhouse of America, but the South can earthairly raise cathe and perhaps grain as profitably as at the West. I see evidences of many small industries in all the towns. These are a constant source of wealth to communities. I aminformed, too, that there is searcely any of the hostility here to the transportation lines which is observed in some other parts of the country. FOR Ladies and Gentlemen. INFLUENCE OF THE IDEAL WOMAN. President Hazard of Wellesley Lectures on the Pre-eminence of Her Sex.

Boston, Feb. 17.-Miss Caroline Hazard, President of Wellesley College, expressed her impressed by his visit to Atlanta and through | opinion as to what the ideal woman stands for at Lorimer Hall this morning in the Twentieth Century Club's course of university lectures. "It is a wonderful country, full of magnificent Her subject was "Ideals in the Education of opportunities. A man hazards his reputation | Women," Miss Hazard said: "The persistence of the ideal is one of the most wonderful things in life. It is handed down from one generation to another as if in itself it had life. The old painters and poets embodied their ideals in feminine form. Time was when every grove and stream had its own nymph and mythology gave us not only Venus and Juno but Pallas Athene, the divine wisdom, With the coming of Christianity the virtues took their place as women. Mercy and Wisdom and Purity not only were represented in feminine form, but the more masculine virtues, Justice and Fortifude, were presented to the average ways as read and example; women virtues, Justice and Fortifude, were presented to the eye as robed and crowned women.

"This longing of the soul for a visible embediment of truth and purity found expression in the worship of the Virgin Mary. From time immemorial what men have conceived as the best and noblest in lite has been represented to them in the form of a woman. In our modern world, and with the change of ideals which the progress of time has brought, it is still the feminine which leads men.

In the matter of education the main question is, What results are we aiming at? In order to determine this we must make some fundamental inquiries as to the position of women in our modern life.

"There are three ways in which women are mental inquiries as to the position of women in our modern life.

"There are three ways in which women are preeminent. They are the binders together of society, they are the beautiflers of life, and they are the observers of morals. Thus woman must stand for conservatism, for grace, for purity, and in these three directions they must have special training. Wise conservatism must be founded on law, and law must teach abodience, which lies at the root of all growth. These who are to interpret beauty must have knowledge of what is beautiful, and the training of the perceptive faculties has to be undertaken in a very thorough and serious way. No one can reproduce what he is not absolute master of, and beauty to wield any influence on life and character must be deeply absorbed and enter into the persontity of its exponent. Beauty must pass into duty.

"This is the supreme task of all education, the training of the soul. How shall duty govern conduct? What fruit of rersonality shall be the product of training? It is women who must answer many of these questions, for women are the guardians of mirals. Women ought to be the spiritual leaders of the world."
